Nay, under the date of the 21st, we are told they will advance in a few days. I wrote you when the first news came that they could not advance for a month at sast, as there were not three hundred carts among the whole allied force, nor were there the mules necessary for even these; a few have been sent from this port, but not half enough. Sickness continues, and desertions ing, they have left the encampment at Paro del Paro, which was immediately occupied by a regiment of Moxican cavalry, and in full sight of the advanced posts of the Allies are the same of the Mexican army.

On the 18th a conference was held between General Degoliado and other commissioners named by Juarez, and the representatives of the allied powers, in which preliminaries were arranged for a meeting of Generals Doblado and Laragoza with the allied plenipotentiaries, and on the 19th General Prim and the representatives of the Allies went by rail to Tejeria. From this town General Prim started for Soledad (a small town on the Orizaba road to Mexico) on herseback, accompanied for a short distance by the French Admiral, De la Graviere, who returned to Tejeria, and escorted by fifty lancers. Three miles from Soledad they met a coach drawn by eight mules, and containing Generals Doblado and Laragoza. These invited General Prim to dismount and ride with them. He did so, and arrived at Soledad about ten A. M. Generals Prim and Doblado were then closeted till half-past three P. M., only interrupted by breakfast, when General Prim returned, being accompanied a league by General Laragoza. At Tejeria he was joined by De la Graviere, and returned to Vera Cruz, arriving there about nine P. M. What will be the result of this conference?

the 20th M. Teran carried them to Tejeria and delivered them to Don Milaus del Basch, who was charged with delivering them to General Doblado, to be signed.

The march inland was to commence in a few days. The Spaniards are to be stationed at Orizaba, the French at Tehnacan and the English at Cordova. Gen. Santiago Vidaurri has been appointed military commander of Tamulipas, who is Constitutional Governor at Novo Leon and Coahulla. This has settled amicably the dispute between the two parties of that State.

The lack of provisions at Vera Cruz is very great. Having consumed those sent them from this port, they are getting short. The Eco du Enropa of the 18th says that this is owing to Gen. Uraga, who was disposed to aid the Allies, having been replaced by Gen. Laragoza, who wishes to annoy thom all he cau and is very strict in preventing fresh provisions from getting to the markst of that city.

The conviction increases daily, that the proposed neasure to compel officers of the regular army, who may have been allowed to assume temporarily higher rank in the volunteer service, to rolinquish their commissions in the regular army or their new commands, is impolitie and unjust. It is believed that such a measure will prove very mischievous to the service, under existing circumstances, and would greatly impair the present efficiency

The remains of Brigadier General F. W. Lander arrived here at two o'clock A. M., by special train via Pittsburg, Harrisburg, &c., accompanied by a large escert of officers and soldiers. It is strongly suspected at the Treasury Department that the report of the circulation of counterfeit five dollar Treasury notes, which prevailed in New York a few days ago, is erroneous, and that there are really no such counterfeits in existence, but that the rumor was either ignorantly or designedly set affoat. No evidence has yet been obtained that any such counterfeit has been seen by any expert or banker. Country.

The bill was referred.

No motion of Mr. Foor, (rep.) of Va., the joint resolution transferring the supervision of the Capitol extension, &c., from the War Department to the Department of the Interior, was taken up.

Mr. Foor said this supervision was in the Interior Department till the accession of Pierce and Jeff. Davis, and was continued in the War Department under Davis and Floyd. It was sufficient to say that, after eight years of military superintendency and expenditure of the country for his loyalty, fidelity and shilty. But he (Mr. Stanton) had no time to spare, and Gen. PAY AND ENGLABERS OF APRY OFFICIENT.

The bill to define the pay and emoluments of cortain officers of the army was taken up, and several unimportant amendments adopted. On the amendment relative to chaplains for hospitals, a discussion ensued.

Mr. Wilson, (Union) of Mo., said there were but a few hospital chaplains, and army chaplains were limited, one to each regiment. He did not believe we had over five hundred thousand men in the field, though the Paymaster reports seven hundred and forty regiments. Regiments were authorized in a very loose manner. He has tried to run the blockade, for no one believes he is going to Matamoros. This schooner has run the blockade several times. Once she carried over Dr. Hugh Martin (brother stimes. Once she carried over Dr. Hugh Martin (brother of the captain), our former Consul at Matamoros. The schooner Charlotte has also sailed for Matamass; she goes under the English flag. Yesterday came in the C. P. Kunapa, bringing the captain of the English steamer Labaun, whose departure from this port some time since I wrote you of as being under suspicious circumstances. I was told that she intended to evade the blockade; but, not being able to ascertain the truth, I did not say so. The captain has protested before the English Consul General, and goes on to see Lord Lyons by the Columbia. Has asys that while he and the purser were at Matamoros (the steamer being outside the bar) the United States man of-war Portsmouth took possession of his vessel, under the plea that the cotton was American; but that he can prove it was bought by Englishmen, of Englishmen, residents of Matamoros, and that most of it came from San Antonio to Brownsville by land. ## NEWS FROM THE STATE CAPITAL.

bly-A Substitute Offered by Mr. Al-vord-People's College in the Senate, &c.

Nearly all the morning session of the House was taken up in debating the Public Defence bill. The debate was on constitutional grounds. He was followed by Mr. Havens, of Essex, in favor of the bill, urging the necessity for legislative action. Mr. Bartlett, of Broome, next followed, reading a long speech in opposition, raising the constitutional point that it would give another long list of sheddy operations. He dwelt at much length on the snoony operations. He dwell at much length on the dangers of the country, and believing that the real hour of danger to the country would come when the re-bellion was suppressed and the six hundred thousand soldiers returned home. As regards England, he did not believe there was any danger of her interfering. His this morning's Times, on the colonization of royal heads, was sufficient answer to the lengthy speech of the gentleman irom Broome, but ne would add that it would appear from the discussion that shoddy contract mock honesty, old fogyism and toryism had combined together against this bill, and for one he was ready to voto for it as it is, although it might be made better in several particulars. He had heard it said that because one member from New York had spoken against this bill and applanded England, that she entire delegation was opposed to it. For one he could say that the entire delegation of the city of New York did not endorse what had been said by his colleague or the gentleman from Broome landatory of Great Britain.

Mr. Andrus next spoke in opposition to the bill. At the conclusion of his remarks Mr. Alvord announced that he had a substitute to offer, prepared by himself and Mr. Ogden, and would now present it. Before it was read Mr. Pierce announced that he had consulted with the members of the Military Committee, and they had all coincided with the substitute and were satisfied with it.

The Sonate had under discussion all the morning the bill making appropriation to the People's College. No definite action was taken upon it.

A large number of prominent New Yorkers are here at present to look after different subjects of interest in the hands of the committee.

The Committee on Affairs of Cities heard arguments on the charter amendments this afternoon. Mr. McLood withdrew, as far as within his power, the first bill introduced, and presented the new bill, a synopsis of which was given in last Sunday's Hexalp, as a substitute. Rufus W. Andrews, Navy Agent, made a longthy speech in favor of the bill, taking the ground that additional power be conferred upon the Mayor. The clitzens of New York asked for this, and the Meyor should have power to appoint and romove the beads of departments, to correct abuses existing there. They nover could secure a reform without it, and they looked to this legislature to Public Defence bill. Mr. Raymond made a strong speech against the original bill. He was in favor of putting the State in a perfect condition of defence, but he was opposed to having any more done for this State, in proportion to its extent of territory, than he was for Vermont and Michigan. This duty belonged to the poneral government, and it rested with them to protect the State from invasion, and he was willing to call upon the national government to attend to that duty forthwith, and would cheerfully vote for lending her the money, if necessary, to accomplish that object. He then reviewed the action of Great Britain since the outbreak of the rebellion, holding that the Britain government had all through religiously intended to respect the blockade. He also argued that there was not the slightest danger of war with that government, and that troops that had been sent to Carada were for the purpose of protecting themselves against invasitm. If there had been any warlke intention on her part, it was now dispelled by the recent victories over the robellion. He then referred to the Mexican imbroglio, but could see nothing to alarm us in that direction. He occupied nearly the whole evening.

The conference examittee on the Health bill had a matering to-day. Drs. Parker, Anderson, Hamen, and one other, went before them in behalf of the Griscom bill. They commenced to theorize on the subject, when a member of the committee stated that they had had a surfeit of theory already, and they now desired something practical; but this the dectors were unable to furnish. There is considerable feeling here arising from the fact these dectors never made their appearance before the whole committee. The fact of their taking an opportunity to press their claims when the arguments in all the bills were heard, and advocates of other bills could meet their arguments. The fact of their taking an opportunity to press their claims when the other side was shut out, shows that they have no confidence in their position.
